

Renuka's journey of success.

Renuka is a courageous woman who has faced adversity as a widow and mother of two children. Despite the challenges she has encountered, she has shown exceptional strength in raising her sons single-handedly in the village of Ralapanawa Colony. To make ends meet, she worked tirelessly to supply food to local shops.

There were moments when Renuka sacrificed her own meals to ensure her children were well-fed. Her unwavering dedication to her children's education is a testament to her love and commitment as a mother. When she learned about a JSB project offering chickens, she eagerly applied, seizing the opportunity to improve her family's livelihood.

Taking on a leadership role within her community, Renuka immersed herself in the JSB project facilitated by the Nochchiyagama Divisional Secretariat. Through her hard work and determination, she successfully managed the chicken farming project from start to finish, greatly benefiting her family. By incorporating eggs into their diet, Renuka has enhanced the nutritional value of their meals. She has implemented cost-effective methods, such as feeding the chickens with homemade pet food rich in protein and vitamins. Additionally, she has created a beautiful garden to supplement their diet with Azolla, a nutritious plant.

Renuka's chickens now produce an impressive number of eggs daily, which not only contribute to their meals but also generate income. By selling excess eggs to local villagers, she has established a sustainable source of revenue for her family. The success of the project supported by Japanese aid is a testament to Renuka's hard work and determination.
